It is our great pleasure to invite you to participate in the 13th conference of the Junior Researchers of EARLI, taking place in Frankfurt am Main, Germany, from 19 until 22 July 2010.

THEME

The theme for JURE 2010 is Connecting Diverse Perspectives on Learning and Instruction: A Conference of Synergy. Currently, there is a wide range of perspectives on learning and instruction within and across different specific domains (e.g. reading comprehension in foreign languages or multi-digit subtraction in mathematics). Moreover, the lifelong educational process is viewed from various focuses (e.g. collaborative learning or metacognitive regulation). Furthermore, many different quantitative and qualitative research methods coexist in the research area of education.

JURE 2010 aims to connect diverse perspectives in research on learning and instruction with the intention of exploring and discussing comprehensive and interdisciplinary ideas. By connecting these diverse perspectives, young researchers can broaden their view and learn from each other.

OBJECTIVE AND SCOPE

JURE 2010 provides a wide range of opportunities for junior researchers to engage in active exchange of ideas on the topic of learning and instruction. The term “junior researchers” includes PhD-students and graduates who received their doctorate within the last two years. The conference includes different presentation formats including keynotes, “hands on” workshops, paper sessions, ICT demonstrations and interactive poster and round table sessions. With the aim of enhancing opportunities for in-depth discussion participants will review each others papers and posters within a peer-feedback process. Additionally, there is the chance to get feedback from experienced senior researchers on paper proposals. The aim of JURE is to contribute to the generation of an active and cohesive community of young researchers. Therefore, the conference also includes a lot of opportunities for informal chats during coffee breaks, lunch hours and social activities.

PROPOSAL FORMATS

1. Paper presentation: A paper session consists of 2 or 3 conceptually linked papers. Each presentation lasts 15 minutes followed by 10 minutes for questions and discussion.
2. Poster presentation: Posters are grouped conceptually. Each poster is introduced with a brief oral presentation (max. 3 minutes). After the introductions there is time to freely walk from poster to poster.
3. Round table: A round table session consists of 2 or 3 conceptually linked projects. Each presenter has 5 minutes to introduce his/her project and raise one or two open questions. 25 minutes are intended for discussion.
4. ICT demonstration: ICT demonstration sessions provide the opportunity for demonstrations and hands-on activities of technological tools for educational purposes (e.g. educational software, multimedia packages, e-learning and e-projects). Two demonstrations of 45 minutes each are planned in a 90 minutes timeslot.

SUBMISSION

The submission system is now open. To submit a proposal, go to:

http://conference.earli.org/conference\_submissions?conference=9

The deadline for submission is November 27, 2009. To make sure that you choose the most appropriate format for the phase of your research, see the information on our website. Notification of decision will be given January 25, 2010.

REGISTRATION

Registration for the conference will be possible from January 25, 2010.

The conference fee depends on time as well as condition of registration and will be approximately €150, including lunches, coffee breaks and some social activities.

Please note that EARLI JURE members will be entitled to a reduced conference fee.

If you would like to become a JURE member – and receive the reduced conference fee – please go to <http://www.earli.org> for more information. Make sure to apply as JURE member some weeks before your registration because a proof of your doctoral student status is required.

FOR MORE INFORMATION PLEASE VISIT: <http://www.earli-jure2010.org>

We look forward to meeting you in Frankfurt!
